ALL NATIVE SERVICES HONORED AS SBA 100 COMPANY

(Winnebago, NE) – All Native Services has been recognized as an SBA 100 Company by the U.S. Small Business Administration. That designation honors their creation of at least 100 new jobs since receiving their SBA 8(a) certification as a small disadvantaged business. All Native Services is headquartered on the Winnebago Indian Reservation and is a subsidiary of Ho-Chunk, Inc., the award winning economic development corporation owned by the Winnebago Tribe of Nebraska. All Native Services joins other companies selected around the nation highlighted by the federal agency on its web site at www.sba.gov/sba-100/all-native-services.

All Native Services was launched in 2005 on the Winnebago Reservation. Their primary business model was information technology and communication services. Since that time, the company has expanded to include professional services, training and operations, managed services and renewable energy. Their renewable energy division has deployed numerous wind and solar systems on the reservation and in the region. They are one of only a few renewable energy companies with their own production system. Today, All Native Services maintains offices in Washington, D.C.; Bellevue, Nebraska; Warner Robbins, Georgia; Lakewood, Washington; and Mexico City, Mexico in addition to their headquarters in Winnebago.

All Native Services has worked with the Mexican government to complete critical improvements to the country's information technology infrastructure, strengthening its efforts against illegal alien smuggling and terrorism on its borders. The company also provided support for a DNA database to identify murder victims on the Mexican border. In addition, All Native Services has provided services for the U.S. Department of State, the U.S. Army, the Bureau of Indian Affairs and the U.S. Marine Corps.

“We're very gratified that the Small Business Administration has honored us with this designation. All Native Services has worked very hard to grow our skills and serve our customers with innovative and cost-effective technology solutions. As we've proven ourselves over the years, we have grown our business and grown our employee base. We're proud that we've been able to created 112 professional and technical jobs and that number keeps growing,” commented Jake Moore, CEO of All Native Services.

All Native Services is part of the successful economic development initiative of Ho-Chunk, Inc. What started as a dream to improve the lives of the Winnebago people is today a thriving tribally owned corporation of more than 1,300 employees, boasting $183 million in revenue. In 1994 Winnebago Tribal leaders decided to organize Ho-Chunk, Inc. to diversify the Tribe's income and develop job opportunities for Tribal members. At that time, the reservation in northeast Nebraska suffered from a 70 percent unemployment rate. Today, with more than 25 companies created by Ho-Chunk, Inc. and other Tribal enterprises, unemployment on the reservation is less than 10 percent.

All Native Services together with other Ho-Chunk enterprises have poured part of their profits back into the community with a variety of educational and community development programs. More than $1 million from Ho-Chunk corporation profits has been returned to the community for scholarships, expansion of the tribal college, and job training programs for Tribal members. But the most high profile initiative has been the development and construction of Ho-Chunk Village. It is a brand new community of commercial and residential development on the Winnebago Reservation.

Ho-Chunk Village features retail, wholesale and professional services companies housed in brand new state-of-the art facilities, with more infrastructures being added each year. The Village also features a large new residential neighborhood of private single-owner homes, two large apartment complexes, and twin home development with a Senior Living Housing development coming soon. All of this progress began in 2003 with construction of the Village infrastructure and more is added each year. It has been cited as an outstanding example of economic and community development for a small rural community.

"All Native Services has been at the front of the expansion of Nebraska's small businesses into the red-hot information technology and sustainable energy fields," said Leon Milobar, District Director of the SBA Nebraska District Office in Omaha. "Not only has All Native Services leveraged opportunities in the competitive federal contracting marketplace to bring economic success to what had been a depressed area in our state, but the company's philanthropic efforts have provided hope and a bright future to young people in the Winnebago Tribe."
